

About Ely Sinfonia

The Ely Sinfonia was founded in November 1999 by a group led by ADeC (Arts Development in East Cambridgeshire) with the aim of becoming a beacon of excellence as East Cambridgeshire's own community orchestra.

Since then it has become one of the region's best respected orchestras. Today, Ely Sinfonia is made up of players of all ages and backgrounds, including school and college students, business professionals, retired individuals and local music teachers. Our repertoire ranges from the contemporary (including special commissions) to mainstream works. We are sponsors of the Cambridge Young Composer of the Year competition and winners' pieces are frequently played at our concerts.

Steve Bingham studied violin with Emanuel Hurwitz, Sidney Griller and the Amadeus Quartet at the Royal Academy of Music from 1981 to 1985, winning prizes for orchestral leading and string quartet playing.

In 1985 he founded the Bingham String Quartet, internationally known for its performances of both classical and contemporary repertoire. Steve has appeared as guest leader with many orchestras, including the BBC Scottish Symphony Orchestra and Scottish Chamber Orchestra, English National Ballet and English Sinfonia. He has given solo recitals in the UK and America and his concerto performances include works by Bach, Vivaldi, Bruch, Prokofiev, Mendelssohn and Sibelius
